Passion for cotton

When choosing cotton
We are committed to use cotton material to develop our products because cotton has a tender touch and makes your days comfortable.
We see cotton as more valuable than chemical materials which are major in the present because it's friendly for both humans and the environment.

Our products development

Our products development

Technics to make products comfortable and handy To make baby wipes, we can make cotton sheet softer than usual. For all of our products, every cotton sheet is assembled with water not glue. We have a variety of production lines and we can choose the best way to make specific products.

Thorough quality checking

We have made medical use absorbent cotton for years and that knowledge is helpful to implement thorough quality checking in production. We also implement contamination checking several times on the production line to make high quality products.

Eco and human friendly products

On the production line, we do not use chlorine bleach and fluorescent brightening agent which we worry about negative effects on the human body and the earth. To bleach cotton, we use hydrogen peroxide which is broken down into oxygen and water by heat. It is safe for human body and the environment. We commit to use good materials and provide great quality products.

Quality control of materials

Raw cotton is imported from the USA and Turkey and each piece of cotton has a unique strength. We use it in the best way on the production line. For buying materials, experienced specialists check the cotton samples and factory to see if we can use it in production. Specialists check it on the field regularly to keep high quality.

About us

Message

We strive to work hard as one team to give customers good impression that "I am glad I used Cotton Labo's products." Since our establishment, we have been developing and selling cosmetic, hygiene, and household products using cotton as the main material. Cotton, an eco-friendly and sustainable raw material, is biodegradable and can decompose naturally in both soil and seawater. For part of cotton we deal, we have established a system that has high traceability to confirm the region of raw cotton and farmer who produced it. We will continue to focus on the stable delivery of "safe" and "secure" products using this well-controlled cotton and aim to expand our sales channels not only in the domestic market but also in overseas market.

We always do appreciate your continued support.

President CEO

Toru Fujimoto
